We welcome university and college teachers, research scholars, academicians to understand the relationship between language, literature and interpretation through theory and praxis- the relationship that promotes interdisciplinary in the fields and a fruitful interaction among the disciplines.

To make use of scientific observations of social sciences, along with the interpretative nature of literary and language studies as a key channel of information sharing to promote, display and disseminate research in the disciplines.

To upgrade the level of knowledge and their skills so that they may better use it in their future academic works.

To discover a common denominator between literary criticism, literary theory, linguistic approaches and social theories in terms of commonalities among 'text', 'discourse', and 'language'.
